Good morning. This is the official notice that a fifth edition of the Early Paper Money book will be prepared and published with a scheduled release date of November 1, 2006. I will begin the process of scanning the text and we will start pulling together images from our archives (and a few from Stack's Ford Sale). In the next couple weeks, we need to develop a list of pricing analysts. We should plan on the entire finished product to be ready for the printer September 1, 2006. I will also have a couple new books coming your way shortly,,,19th century, 20th century and the Gold Book.

Dear Randy:

I did receive your 3/24/05 report on the coming meeting on the next day concerning the 5th edition matter and was glad to hear from you promptly by telephone that the publication of it was approved and scheduled for November 2006.

As I requested would you be kind enough to confirm this by Email or otherwise so that I can begin to get ideas for it in my sleeping as well as waking hours?

My best.

Eric

Dear Radford:
 The images are beautiful and in due course I will study them in detail. Thank you very much.
 Have you found any errors in the border detail information in my book?
 When the time comes shortly for my fifth edition I look forward to your suggestions for its improvement.
 My best. Eric

Eric,

Thank you so much for your speedy reply and good wishes. Lenny Vaccaro and I would like to come up some time after Labor Day in September. As you may remember Lenny collects Emperor Norton and has just added a new note to his collection. He is going to send you an email tomorrow with that image. He also collects early United States medals so we would be interested in seeing anything that pertains to the Georgia Colonials, Emperor Norton and early US medals.

Lenny and I are both compulsive exhibitors at ANA and have both won Howland Wood Awards. Our purpose would be to increase our knowledge for accurate exhibiting and writing. I will be in Kenya this summer and thus will miss ANA but Lenny thought it would be an ideal place to exhibit his Norton collection in the local classification.

I would be more than happy to provide copies of all my Georgia colonial notes. I have 126 "types" along with some varieties and uncut and partial sheets. All I need to know is what format to provide for Krause and when they will need them.

While I was at the auction, a Stack's representative acknowledged that there are still another ~100 Georgia notes, but that they are lower grade duplicates of items already presented.

Thank you again for your kind encouragement and offer. Lenny and I will get back in touch with you after the ANA convention. Lenny is recovering from lung cancer surgery and chemo and I am still regaining my strength from my leukemia chemo; we both should be good to go by Labor Day.

I intend to sell my collection after I exhibit the notes at the 2076 Tricentennial Celebration. I will only be 136 years old at that time!

Sincerely,

Radford

Eric,
 A follow up response to your kind note.

As soon as the notes arrive from Stacks (I had them shipped to avoid $2000+ in Georgia sales tax), I will make full size color copies of the notes for you. I don't know if I can make copies of the 1778 uncut sheets I have.

As far as my next project is concerned, I will continue to work on bringing my Russian collection to the level that my Georgia paper money is.

One item that might be good to mention in the Orange-Green seal is what Stacks called the "transitional" notes on which the seal color is midway between orange and green. It looks to me that the printer mixed the inks as he was running low. After all he was not a skilled craftsman but a fill in for the Royal Printer who had sided with the British. I don't think this was a matter of the green ink fading as much as it was a mixing of the inks.

Take a look at your notes and let me know what you think.

Radford Stearns

Eric

He walked his route at first but finally earned enough to buy a horse and wagon.
 My wife's grandfather when he came to America became a peddler in Valdosta, Georgia so even if we do not have a southern accent I have a right to collect Georgia numismatic items.
 I did not know that you collected Russian paper money. (Of course you do)

Have a wonderful time in Kenya. My wife and I have been there a number of times and once took our entire family of eleven there. Give all of the animals our regards.

Dear Radford:
 Do not worry about imaging the Georgia sheets. Merely see if my prior sheet construction comments are accurate.
 As to the orange ink and the greenish ink I tried to clarify this in my discussion of inks in my book. I believe that when the ink supply for seals was used up the next ink mix was made up without particular concern about matching color and with whatever colored ink was available. Perhaps they had bought a group of inks of different colors and wanted to use them all up before trying to obtain more. Whether "transitional" is the proper term can be further considered.
 I did not know that you collected Russian paper money. (Of course you do)

Dear Radford:

Thank you very much for your cooperation as to the Illustrations of the Georgia bills in your collection. I look forward to receiving them. I am hoping that Krause will use color for as many bills as possible in my fifth edition and that will probably require the use of the colored plates Stacks used in the Ford catalogs, assuming Stacks will let Krause use them.

My address is 6450 Cecil Ave., St. Louis , MO 63105

I have a crazy idea which might be interesting to a few of us. I have a bunch of defective Georgia bill and you probably have a bunch. There are a group in the Ford collection. If we can find a restorer who can combine the perfect parts of these bill with other parts from the same type and denomination there could be a group of nice looking restored bills available to others. Do you know anyone who could do such work? This may be impractical but just to keep the defective bills laying around for no purpose is silly if a way can be found to do such work.

Eric,
If you will send me your mailing address, I will send you the life size color copies of my notes. The only one I forgot to do was the 1782 #33 which is already a plate in your book and has bogus signatures. I assumed that it was JF's when I acquired it from Fritz Weber in 1977.

I did not do the sheets as mine are in agreement with your listings in the book.

If Krause needs scans on a disc for any of them, let me know if they should be jpeg or tiff or whatever and I can provide them.

Eric,
I'll have to go over the notes and your border descriptions.

In the past, you have used sheets on the outside covers. If you want a GA sheet, I have several I could scan or photograph.
